-It is no wonder if he who reads, converses and meditates improves in knowledge. By the first a man converses with the dead, by the second with the living and by the third with himself, so that he appropriates to himself all the knowledge which can be got from those who have lived and from those now alive.

-If you drop your collar-button, there is one sure method of finding it. After you have hauled the bureau across the room to look under it, then replace the furniture and put on a pair of heavy shoes; start to walk across the room, and before you have taken three steps you will step on the collar button and satash it all to pieces. -Danzville Breeze.
